DETAILED ACTION

1. This final Office action is responsive to Applicant's reply filed April 7, 2009.
Claims 1, 2, 6, 7 and 16 have been amended.
Claims 10-15 have been cancelled.
Claims 1-7, 9, 16-25, and 27-34 are pending.

Response to Amendment

2. In response to Applicant's claim amendments, the rejection of claims 1-7 and 9 under 35 U.S.C. § 112, 2nd is withdrawn.

In response to Applicant's claim amendments, the rejection of claims 1-7 and 9 under 35 U.S.C. § 101 is withdrawn.

Comment regarding 35 U.S.C. § 101 and claims 30-34: Previously, claims 30-34 were rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 101 as being directed toward a computer readable medium that could be interpreted as a carrier wave signal, i.e., a signal per se, which is an abstract idea and non-statutory under § 101. In response, Applicant has removed the reference to "carrier wave signals" from ¶ 74 of the specification. This amendment to the specification is interpreted as a surrender of scope of the medium. More particularly, the computer readable medium may NOT be interpreted as "carrier wave signals" since Applicant has effectively precluded such an interpretation based on the amendment to the specification. Such an interpretation is deemed reasonable in light of the fact that signals per se have been upheld as non-statutory subject matter under § 101 (e.g., see In re Nuijten, 84 USPQ2d 1495).

Also, Examiner notes that, as per MPEP § 2144.03(C), the statements of Official Notice made in the art rejection have been established as admitted prior art since Applicant has not traversed the Examiner's assertions of Official Notice. More specifically, the following statements of Official Notice are now formally established on record as admitted prior art:

Official Notice is taken that it was old and well-known in the art at the time of Applicant's invention to penalize users who abuse a community system.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed April 7, 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that claims 16-25 and 27-29 are statutory because of the recitation of a digital network and a user interface; however, as explained in the rejection below, the digital network and the user interface are merely used to perform insignificant extra-solution activity. Therefore, these claims are still non-statutory.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

4. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

5. Claims 16-25 and 27-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

A claimed process is eligible for patent protection under 35 U.S.C. § 101 if:

"(1) it is tied to a particular machine or apparatus, or (2) it transforms a particular article into a different state or thing. See Benson, 409 U.S. at 70 ('Transformation and reduction of an article 'to a different state or thing' is the clue to the patentability of a process claim that does not include particular machines. '); Diehr, 450 U.S. at 192 (holding that use of mathematical formula in process 'transforming or reducing an article to a different state or thing' constitutes patent-eligible subject matter); see also Flook, 437 U.S. at 589 n.9 ('An argument can be made [that the Supreme] Court has only recognized a process as within the statutory definition when it either was tied to a particular apparatus or operated to change materials to a 'different state or thing' '); Cochrane v. Deener, 94 U.S. 780, 788 (1876) ('A process is...an act, or a series of acts, performed upon the subject-matter to be transformed and reduced to a different state or thing.').⁷ A claimed process involving a fundamental principle that uses a particular machine or apparatus would not pre-empt uses of the principle that do not also use the specified machine or apparatus in the manner claimed. And a claimed process that transforms a particular article to a specified different state or thing by applying a fundamental principle would not pre-empt the use of the principle to transform any other article, to transform the same article but in a manner not covered by the claim, or to do anything other than transform the specified article." (In re Bilski, 88 USPQ2d 1385, 1391 (Fed. Cir. 2008))

Also noted in Bilski is the statement, "Process claim that recites fundamental principle, and that otherwise fails 'machine-or-transformation' test for whether such claim is drawn to patentable subject matter under 35 U.S.C. §101, is not rendered patent eligible by mere field-of-use limitations; another corollary to machine-or-transformation test is that recitation of specific machine or particular transformation of specific article does not transform unpatentable principle into patentable process if recited machine or transformation constitutes mere 'insignificant post-solution activity.'" (In re Bilski, 88 USPQ2d 1385, 1385 (Fed. Cir. 2008)) Claims 16-25 and 27-29 are not ted to a particular machine or apparatus nor do they transform a particular article into a different state or thing; therefore, claims 16-25 and 27-29 are non-statutory under § 101.

The transmission of data using a digital network interface or a computer system is insignificant extra-solution activity. It is also noted that the mere recitation of a machine in the preamble with an absence of a machine in the body of a claim fails to make the claim statutory under 35 U.S.C. § 101, as seen in the Board of Patent Appeals Informative Opinion Ex parte Langemyr et al. (Appeal 2008-1495), <http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/dcom/bpai/its/fd081495.pdf> .

Appropriate correction is required.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 1-7, 9, 16-25, and 27-34 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the Double Patenting rejection and the rejection of claims 30-34 under 35 U.S.C. § 101, set forth in this Office action.

Double Patenting

7. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422

F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

8. Claims 1-7, 9, 16-25, and 27-34 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-33 of copending Application No. 11/241,008. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the main difference between the independent claims in each respective case is that the independent claims in Application No. 11/241,008 specify certain feedback cancellation criteria related to a user's suspension. Official Notice is taken that it was old and well-known in the art at the time of Applicant's invention to penalize users who abuse a community system [now admitted prior art]. This encourages users within a community to conform to community rules and general expectations of common courtesy. Therefore, the Examiner submits that it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of Applicant's invention to track user suspensions in a feedback system in order to prevent abuse from unfairly unaffected other users' ratings. Conversely, it would have been obvious to not include the details of a user's suspension because elimination of an element or its functions is deemed to be obvious in light of prior art teachings of at least the recited element or its functions (see In re Karlson, 136 USPQ 184, 186; 311 F2d 581 (CCPA 1963)).

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
